Propitiation and Faith in His Blood

Scriptures reading: Rom. 3:25; 1John 4:10; Acts 20:28

I. God has set forth Christ Jesus as a “propitiation place”–Rom. 3:25.

A. The meaning of propitiation

1. Propitiation is to appease the situation between us and God and to reconcile us to God by satisfying His righteous demands.
2. Formerly, there was a separation between us and God, but propitiation makes us one with God.
3. Propitiation accomplishes this by solving the problem between us and God—our sins—which kept us away from God's presence and hindered God from coming to us.

B. Our need of propitiation

1. Propitiation involves two parties, one of which has wronged the other, has become indebted to the other, and must act to satisfy the demands of the other.
2. As sinners, we needed propitiation to appease our situation before God and to satisfy His demands.
3. Our pitiful situation is aptly illustrated by the case of the tax collector in Luke 18:13; “standing at a distance, would not even lift up his eyes to heaven, but beat his breast, saying, God, be propitiated to me, the sinner!”
  - a. He realized that he had offended God and that he needed something to be his offering of propitiation so that God would be appeased.
  - b. Because he offered a prayer that was based upon God's propitiation, he “went down to his house justified.” –v. 14.

C. The sacrifice of propitiation (Gk. hilasmos)

1. The sacrifice of propitiation is Christ Himself—1John 2:2.
2. The providing of this sacrifice was motivated by His love—1John 4:10.
3. Christ Himself is the propitiation for our sins, the sacrifice for our propitiation before God; He offered Himself to God as a sacrifice for our sins, not only for our redemption but also for satisfying God's demand—Heb. 9:28.

D. The action of propitiation (Gk. hilaskomai)

1. On the cross Christ propitiated for us and brought us back to God, making us one with God—Heb. 2:17.
  2. The Lord Jesus made propitiation for our sins, thereby satisfying the demand of God's righteousness and appeasing the relationship between God and us, that God may be peacefully gracious to us.
- E. The place of propitiation (Gk. hilasterion)
1. In Romans 3:25 the Greek word translated 'propitiation place' denotes the place where propitiation is made.
    - a. It is the lid of the ark, the place where God met with his people—Heb. 9:5; cf. Exo. 25:16-22 (Heb. kapporeth for the lid of the ark)
    - b. Paul speaks of the propitiation cover as the throne of grace which is in the Holy of Holies, for it is the cover of the ark which is in the Holy of Holies.
  2. The lid of the ark signifies Christ as the propitiation place set forth by God.
    - a. He is the place where we enjoy propitiation before God and where God gives grace to us.
    - b. Upon Christ as our place of propitiation, we have a standing to fellowship with God in glory, as He makes His will known to us and infuses us with His glory for His corporate expression.

II. God's setting forth Christ Jesus as a propitiation place is "through faith in His blood"—Rom. 3:25

- A. God obtained, acquired, purchased, the church by paying the price of "His own blood" —Acts 20:28.
  1. Through incarnation our God, the Creator, the eternal One, put on human nature and became mingled with man.
  2. As a result, He was no longer God; He was a God-man, who had human blood and thus was able to die on the cross for us.
  3. When the Lord Jesus died on the cross as the God-man, He died not only as man but also as God.
  4. The blood He shed was the blood not only of the man Jesus but also the blood of the God-man; therefore His blood, through which we have been redeemed and through which God obtained the church, is God's own blood.
- B. The blood that has redeemed fallen beings and the blood in which we have faith is the blood of "Jesus, the Son of God" —1John 1:7.

1. As fallen human beings, we needed genuine human blood for our redemption, and as a man, the Lord Jesus shed human blood to redeem us.
  2. Because the Lord is the Son of God, even God Himself, with His blood there is the element of divinity, and this divine element ensures the eternal efficacy of His redemptive blood—cf. Heb. 9:14.
  3. Therefore, as a man He had genuine human blood, and as God He has the element that gives His blood eternal efficacy.
- C. In our Christian spiritual experience, “the blood of Jesus His Son cleanses us from every sin” —1John 1:7.
1. The name Jesus denotes the Lord's humanity, which was needed for the shedding of the redeeming blood.
  2. The title His Son denotes the Lord's divinity, which was needed for the eternal efficacy of the redeeming blood.
  3. The blood of Jesus His Son indicates that this blood is the proper blood of a genuine man for redeeming God's fallen creatures with the divine surety for its eternal efficacy.
  4. This eternal efficacy is not limited either in space or in time; rather, this efficacy is all-prevailing in space and everlasting in time; for this reason, the redemption accomplished by the God-man is eternal—Heb. 9:12.
- D. The faith through which we believe in Christ and in His blood is not of human origin; it is not something that originates from ourselves.
1. Christ Himself is the Author and the Perfecter of our faith—Heb. 12:2.
  2. Just as Abraham, our father in faith, believed in God as a response to an infusion from the divine glory that imparted to him both the believing element and the capacity to believe, so we believe in Christ “through the faith of Jesus Christ”.
- E. “In God's New Testament economy, God desires that man believe in Jesus, who is God incarnate. If man does not believe in Him, he commits the unique sin before God (John 16:9). However, if man believes in Him, he is righteous to the uttermost before God, and God reckons this faith as his righteousness. At the same time, this faith brings its object, that is this One who is God incarnate, into those who believe in Him. He is God's righteousness, and God has given Him as righteousness to those who are indwelt by Him (Jer. 23:6). All this is out of, and depends on, the faith that is in Him and of Him (Heb. 12:2).” —Rom. 3:22, note1, Recovery Version.
